Creating more liveable public open spaces

Liveability! It's what local communities want from their streets, sidewalks and parks. It's why since 1999, councils, property developers, architects and designers have trusted Exteria to help them transform public open spaces into attractive living places.

We're outfitters of streets and parks

Exteria is a Western Australian owned and operated company specialising in outfitting urban streets, sidewalks and parks with beautifully designed and made outdoor furniture and shade structures. Across almost every city and town in Western Australia, you'll find people sitting on our benches, eating at our tables, drinking from our water fountains and sheltering from the sun under our shade structures.

One place for every outdoor space

No community or public space is ever the same. That's why we have the most extensive range of urban street and park furniture to choose from. Everything you could need to outfit any outdoor space is available from Exteria.

In addition, we give you a choice of design styles, mounting options and materials to suit every local aesthetic from heritage to contemporary and everything in between. We also have a full range of products that meet Australian access and mobility standards.

Made to endure like no other

Outdoor furniture must be able to withstand everything nature can throw at it, resist everyday wear and tear and stand up against vandals year after year. Local manufacturing facilities, an engineering background and attention to detail are how we make products that endure.

Exteria furniture is made to endure the worst

All our outdoor furniture and shade structures are designed and manufactured for a tough life. Our local product designers and engineers go to extreme lengths to make sure our products will look good and perform as promised year after year. We do this through superior product design, excellence in workmanship and by using materials that provide a long term cost saving.

Safety is designed in

In today's litigious environment what you don't want is people injuring themselves on community infrastructure. That's why we start with smart product design that minimises or eliminates hazards. Then we choose materials and manufacturing techniques that further enhance the safety of product designs so the furniture and shade structures installed are the safest they can be.

Made for Western Australia's coastal environment

Unless you live here, you can't appreciate the extreme corrosive conditions of Western Australia's coastal climate. We do, that's why our outdoor furniture is made to outlast, whether it is installed in Broome, Esperance or anywhere in between.

Outfitting Western Australia

We have local design and manufacturing facilities and local people providing a full-range of services. We're also a WALGA preferred supplier and have people travelling across the state providing face-to-face support for every product we sell.

We design and manufacture locally

There are few city and regional environments in Western Australia where our products haven't been installed. We're the trusted name in shade structures and outdoor furniture.

Technical support to help you decide

We have local engineers and designers to help you choose the right products for your project. We also have people with qualifications in the metal and construction industries, so we have a well-rounded team ready to answer all your questions.

Local installation at your service

We offer a full furniture installation and project management service anywhere in Western Australia. Also, being registered builders means we're licensed to install shade structures to any location.

Local parts and maintenance

It's good to know that if you need a replacement part, or help with product maintenance, we're close by. One phone call and we'll get you what you need, or send out our maintenance team so you can minimise any safety hazard or inconvenience to the general public.
